Transformation Through Meaningful Employment

Are you looking for a good job? Want to keep the job you have? Or earn more money?

A graduate from Twin Cities Rise will talk about his own journey to meaningful employment. Every year, the nonprofit organization helps hundreds of people, especially black men, build self-confidence and emotional skills to improve their prospects in the workplace.

Find out why personal empowerment is just as important as a resume. Learn how to avoid unproductive thoughts and be inspired to take the first step toward better employment.
