SCHOOL TOOLS RECIPIENT PROGRAMS & AGENCIES

CornerHouse Children's Advocacy Center is an accredited, globally recognized Children's Advocacy Center, providing services for children and caregivers impacted by child abuse for over 30 years. CornerHouse's programming aims to address the short- and long-term effects of abuse for the child, caregiver, and family. Through trauma-informed forensic interviews, mental health services, and family support and stabilization, we help each child and family heal from trauma caused by child abuse.

Emma Norton Services: Emma's Place is a permanent supportive housing development in Maplewood that serves formerly homeless single parents with 3+ children. Onsite services assist families in achieving self-sufficiency and after-school and summer programming for children to support their success.

Hallie Q. Brown Community operates in five core program areas to assist families in achieving self-sufficiency and empowerment: Early Childhood Education, Youth Enrichment, Basic Needs, Senior Programming, and Multiservice Center Administration.

Interfaith Action of Greater Saint Paul, Department of Indian Work through its Emergency Services, Family Education Diabetes Series, and Youth Enrichment programming, serves hundreds of local American Indian youth each year. Students are taught indigenous history, arts, ceremony, literacy, and healthy living.

Interfaith Action of Greater Saint Paul, Project Home provides emergency shelter for families facing homelessness in Ramsey County. Hundreds of children, along with their parents, are sheltered each year.

Project REACH is a Saint Paul Public Schools shelter and street-based program that promotes school stability and academic success of children and youth who experience homelessness, as well as children in other temporary housing situations.

Saint Paul Public Schools, American Indian Magnet School serves a diverse population of over 600 Pre K-8 grade students on the East Side of Saint Paul. Instructors weave Ojibwe and Lakota languages and cultures into academic subjects, making deep connections for their learners.
